hunting a band of 40 ruffians, headed by Georges, who landed in three batches between Treport and Dieppe. That scoundrel Pichegru has followed Georges and the rest to Paris; we know where they slept Sunday. The depositions of some whom we have arrested implicate generals of the highest rank. If we can verify this, justice shall be done. I thought it best to notify you at once so that you can get on the track of any intrigues there may be in your army. From the veiled character of part of my dispatch, you must see that I do not care to speak out for the moment. The police hold out hopes that they will catch Pichegru and Georges to-day.

16th. (To Regnier.) Please issue a writ to arrest General Souham and General Liebert, charged with conspiracy against the state with Generals Moreau, Pichegru, and the outlaw Georges.

Guess what I 've just done! I have ordered the arrest of Moreau; it will make a fine scandal, won't it ? People will not omit to say that I am jealous of Moreau, that it's a revenge, and a thousand silly things of the same kind. I, jealous of Moreau!

18th. (To the Senate.) Since the day on which I attained the Chief Magistracy numerous plots have been formed to kill me; they were really conspiracies against the glory, the liberty, the destinies of the French nation. Our citizens must allay their fears; my life will last as long as it is necessary to the nation.

19th. (To General Soult.) Moreau has been arrested; and fifteen or sixteen of the ruffians; the rest have taken to flight. Fifteen horses and some uniforms have been
